Business Risk Services

Helping clients navigate through the challenges of increased risk

Our business risk services team supports you to navigate through the challenges of evolving structural and risk pressures, the increased need to develop and implement effective governance structures, whilst mitigating any business risks which may occur.

Our services include:

Internal audit and quality assurance of internal audit

We support your needs at every stage, from setting up and delivering the entire internal audit function, building on work already performed or partnering in a co-sourcing model. Our internal audit services deliver solutions that can help you address a full range of reviews around strategic, operational, financial and compliance risk areas. Our experts can also help you perform quality assurance on your functions in line with the Global practices of the IIA.

Developing standard operating procedures and defining roles & responsibilities

Policies and procedures are the strategic link between a company's vision and its daily operations. They allow management to guide operations without constant intervention, allowing the team to meet the strategic objectives. Our specialists help you develop policies and procedures, process maps and key controls, which facilitate the day-to-day operations and decision making.

Internal controls design

Internal controls are an integral element in all business processes. It is critical to build a strong, efficient and effective structure of controls to ensure that all functions and activities are achieving their strategic, financial and operational objectives. At Grant Thornton, we design integrated internal control frameworks that best serve your needs and challenges.

Transformation of ERM & compliance

The integration and linking of risk management and compliance is critical in minimising the cost of compliance, while ensuring added value. Our experts work alongside you to help you align your taxonomy and corporate frameworks to achieve your strategic objectives.

Customer journey mapping

Customer experience is defined by the nexus of the customer journey and the product/services offered by the company. Our specialists help you and your organisation re-examine the way services are offered to yield the ultimate customer experience. Value additions are decomposed and inefficiencies are eliminated. The starting point of the transformation is innovating the customer experience.

Developing corporate governance

We work with you and identify your key strategic drivers, operational processes, and any inherent risks; in order to strengthen your governance structures. These structures underpin corporate performance, as well as ensuring regulatory compliance, where needed.

Our clients get the very best that Grant Thornton has to offer

Whether you are a start-up business entering the market or an established business on its path to growth then our Business Risk services professionals can offer an objective, in-depth examination and evaluation of your organisation's ability to manage financial and operational challenges.

Our business risk specialists work with you to ensure that any risk is identified and mitigated, ensuring that it does not impact your business, reputation, or growth plans. We recommend methodical models which support your growth and help you to become dynamic in your approach.

We work with you throughout the growth lifecycle to ensure your business reaches its full potential within the increasingly competitive market. We provide actionable and meaningful advice, ensuring you get the very best that Grant Thornton has to offer.
